

Use caller ID

About caller ID

When you receive a call, caller ID shows the number on the incoming call or lock screens, unless the caller has hidden their information.

When you make a call, those you call will see your number if they use caller ID.

Depending on your services, caller ID may also:

- Show your name when you make a call
- Show incoming callers' personal or business names
- Read aloud the caller's name/number
- Identify potential spam - Google's Caller ID & spam lets you easily block them

Change your caller ID info

To change the information that people see about you when you call, contact your carrier.

Hear caller ID announcement

You can hear the caller's name and number read out loud:

- Every time you receive a call
- Only when you are wearing a headset
- Never

To set it up:

1. Open the  Phone app.
2. Touch  > Settings > Caller ID announcement.
3. Touch Announce Caller ID, then select when you want to hear it.

To turn the announcement off, select Never.

Identify and block spam callers automatically

For numbers that aren't in your contacts, Google can provide information about the number and warnings about potential spam callers.

1. Touch .
2. Touch  > Settings > Caller ID & spam.
3. Turn See caller and spam ID on .